

PRESS RELEASE – 25th September 2011

Aviation artists at Airport

Members of the Guild of Aviation Artists 'landed' at Gloucestershire Airport, Staverton on Saturday ahead of their forthcoming exhibition at The Flying Shack in October.

Artists chose a variety of subjects ranging from the Flying Shack's modern Eurostar microlight, executive jets and the Jet Age Museum's vintage Gloster jets on a regional sketching day. The exhibition will run from 16th to 21st October.

Airport business development manager Kim Davenport, said: - "The Airport provides an excellent location and a wide range of aircraft. We're looking forward to seeing the finished works in a few weeks' time."